Preparing Minneapolis youth for tomorrow’s careers

With 17 years of experience and unparalleled access to thousands of talented youth, Step Up connects more young people to jobs in our city than any other program. Step Up recruits, trains and places nearly 1,600 young people (ages 14-21) in paid internships at over 200 employers in 15 industries each year.

Step Up is a collective of support that unites businesses, schools, nonprofits and the city together in a common goal: to build and strengthen our future economy and the talented youth who will power it. We help organizations diversify their workforce and build a competitive pipeline of young, skilled workers for the entire region. Since 2003, Step Up has created over 28,000 internships.

Our interns complete work readiness training certified by the Minneapolis Regional Chamber. They are carefully matched with employers based on their skills, interests and abilities, and can earn academic credit for their training and work experience. We provide ongoing support to interns and employers throughout the application, onboarding and internship process.

Step Up provides internships at employers of all sizes in every sector—from large Fortune 500 companies and small businesses, to government agencies and nonprofits.

Interns perform a variety of tasks each summer. For some, a basic administrative role is ideal. More advanced interns assist with research at hospitals or quantitative analysis at multinational corporations. Youth who prefer working with their hands can find internships in urban agriculture, skilled trades or with kids at day camp. Through Step Up, interns get their foot in the door, discover new careers and show you what they’re capable of. Their unique voice and ideas can change the future of work.

We’ll work with you to determine the best fit and skill set so our interns can make the greatest impact at your workplace.
